

A photograph of a person wearing a red shawl and a black backpack, walking away from the camera through a littered area. In the background, another person in a grey sweater is visible. The ground is covered with trash, including plastic bags and debris. A white rectangular frame is overlaid on the image, containing the text.

Parkmandu is a collective initiative that intends to build and rebuild parks for the city of Kathmandu. Due to the lack of public space and parks in the city, we have decided to organize a group of multidisciplinary members with the common goal of creating pertinent public spaces to enjoy.

We are focused on the idea of making parks because besides the urgency of greenery of the city, we believe that children deserve more places to play and enjoy. Likewise we want to create spaces where people will have a sense of belonging with their city.
